Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design

Examples of Territorial Reinforcement

- Use thorny/thick plant materials in perimeter landscape areas to discourage cutting through parking areas, trampling vegetation, approaching ground floor windows or climbing fences and walls.
- Use appropriate signage to discourage trespassers, loitering or consumption of alcoholic beverages in unwanted areas.
- Use public art, sculpture, flags and banners where allowed.
- Use physical and symbolic barriers.
- Modify surfaces to make tagging (graffiti) or skateboarding more difficult.
- Use landscape lighting to mark territory.
